CHOOSING A SUMMER PROGRAM

Summer vacations are wonderful times in the life of a child but it can be a difficult time for working parents. When school is out, schedules are disrupted and childcare can become a problem. Day camps and recreation programs offer positive choice, but how do you know which is the best program for your child? Ideally, you should try to visit several different camps or programs, and speak with the directors before making a decision. Sometimes, the most useful information comes from other parents, so you should not hesitate to ask for names and phone numbers of parents who have sent their children to a particular camp. And don't forget to involve your child in the decision-making process!

Here is a checklist to help you decide if a day camp or activity program fits your family schedule and meets your child's needs.

The Program

- What is the daily schedule at the camp?
- Do the hours fit your work schedule? Is the program flexible?
- Can extended hours or part-time hours be arranged?
- What activities are offered? Are there different choices each day?
- Will your child have a chance to learn new skills and work on old ones?
- Are different activities offered for different age groups?
- Does the daily schedule include quiet and active times? Are there activities children can do alone as well as in groups?
- How competitive are the activities? Will each child have the opportunity to experience success?

The Staff

- Are children supervised at all times?
- Does staff have experience working with different age groups? Do they have specialized training? Is someone trained to handle medical emergencies?
- What is the child:staff ratio? Are there enough counselors to assure adequate attention and care for each child?
- Is additional staff added for field trips and other special activities (such as lifeguards when children are swimming)?
- Are written health, safety, and emergency rules on display?
- What is the policy when a child gets sick or has an accident?

The Facility

- Does the camp seem clean, safe, and well-maintained, inside and out? Is the outdoor space adequate for sports and other activities? Is the indoor space adequate to hold all the children in bad weather? Do activity areas have interesting, user-friendly materials and equipment? If food is served, who plans and prepares the meals? Are children being given food that is nutritious? Is the food preparation area clean?
- Does the program provide transportation? Where are children picked up and dropped off? Is a staff member on hand to provide adequate supervision? Do staff members ride on the bus with the campers?
- What are the fees and what is included? Are there any extra charges?
- Are children encouraged or discouraged to bring spending money?

Parent Involvement

- Are parents welcome to visit the program at any time?
- Are there special activities scheduled in which parents can participate?
- What are the rules regarding communication with children during the day?
- Are questions and comments from parents encouraged?
